Federally Funded Lactation Projects in Florida During 2020

Each year funding is allocated to a variety of federally funded programs that include infant feeding support through the federal appropriations process.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

- The CDC Hospitals Promoting Breastfeeding program provides critical support to advance breastfeeding continuity of care and increase access to lactation-friendly environments in states, hospitals, and communities. In Fiscal Year 2020, this program was funded at $9 million.
- Racial and Ethnic Approaches to Community Health (REACH) funding is used to reduce health disparities among racial and ethnic populations with the highest burden of chronic disease through culturally tailored interventions to address preventable risk behaviors. As part of the REACH program the Live Healthy Miami Gardens project work includes creating and implementing a Healthy Food Plan and a Breastfeeding TouchPoint Program and implementing communications and coordinated care strategies to increase community-clinical linkages.
- State perinatal quality collaboratives (PQCs) are state or multi-state networks of teams working to improve the quality of care for mothers and babies, including improvements in breastfeeding rates. CDC's Division of Reproductive Health is currently providing support for the Florida Perinatal Quality Collaborative.

Health Resources & Service Administration, Maternal and Child Health Bureau (HRSA, MCHB)

- The Title V Maternal and Child Health \(MCH\) Block Grant provides funding for states and jurisdictions to meet the unique health needs of their children and families. Florida has chosen increasing the percentage of infants who are ever breastfed and infants who are breastfed exclusively through 6 months as one of their Title V Maternal and Child Health grant National Performance Measures.
- The Healthy Start program strengthens the foundations at the community, state, and national levels to help women, infants, and families reach their fullest potential. The Healthy Start program implements community-based interventions to improve the health of mothers and children, including lactation education.
